Recent graduates! It is important to start thinking about your career, if you want a new position, start networking. Studies have shown that only about 1-10% of all new jobs are posted in the classified ads or on the Internet. The other positions are filled by word of mouth. So whether you're looking for a new job or changing to a new career, networking is a vital tool for gathering information, talking to the right people and achieving your goal. According to Mark Twain, from Mark Twain, "Networking can be done anytime, anywhere, a train ride home, at a job fair, or in a social setting. So the most important first step in networking is to smile and be friendly. You never know with whom you might strike up an important conversation."

"Everyone in the world is running busy with their own schedule with no chances of getting together with their college mates. Somewhere somehow, they still believe that they will get a chance to meet their friends and that's exactly what happened on 18th March 2013. The speciality is that it was conducted in Chennai which was just like a "cherry on top of cake", That was a great initiative from my college and greatly appreciated. Glad to see people from Chennai joining the party in good numbers and ofcourse it was a pleasure to see my favourite staffs as well. It was my third Alumni meet and would love to join the next Alumni as well with more number of friends. Hoping that you guys will turn up for sure...
